

Lord of Hosts

Is devoted to variant Diplomacy. In these pages will be found Miller numbers and designators, variant game announcements and results, occasional articles and editorials, and (given a game fee of $3.00 per player, in addition to maintaining a trade or subscription) games of variant Diplomacy. The price for subscriptions and back issues will be cost plus postage, with allowance for losses and rounded up to the nickel so that I can produce additional copies. Offers to trade will be considered.

Issues will be published approximately quarterly. Miller numbers will be assigned on receipt of gamemaster's name, address, magazine, year of game start, name of variant (and other available information), and list of players and countries. Reprinting by variant banks or their staffs by permission only; anyone else may reproduce an issue in its entirety, or in part upon attribution except for articles by other authors who herewith retain full rights to their own material. This entire effort is yours courtesy of Robert Sacks, 4861 Broadway, Apt 5-V, NY NY 10034, (212) 942-3572.

As can be seen, I am still a civilian at the same address - I will remain so. (Actually, this issue is coming to you from Massachusetts, but that's another story.) Ray Heuer has now been elected by DVC to be its Secretary (he didn't like holding office merely by MNC designation) - Scott Rosenberg is (temporarily) his back-up as Fred Davis has severed connections with DVC.

Proclamation: No Miller Number Custodian, nor any Associate authorized to assign Miller Numbers, will ever require payment or trade or other value as a prerequisite for the assignment of a Miller Number.

Statement by the Miller Number Custodian re "World Variant Association"

Noting that the rules governing the "World Variant Association" require members to abide by the decision of the group and make no provision for functional autonomy,

No decision of that group affecting any responsibility, authority, or decision of the Miller Number Custodian or any of his Associates (specifically including, but not limited to, Miller Numbers, Designators, Recategorization, succession, appointment, or tenure as Miller Number Custodian, Associate, or other staff, Variant Orphan Rescue Service, and sponsored variant rating & feedback services) shall have any standing except as certified by the Miller Number Custodian.

As the "World Variant Association" asserts the right to authorize and force members with authority and responsibility from other sources (such as the Miller Number Custodian or Diplomacy Variant Commission) to act as that group dictates, membership on that group creates a conflict of interest with membership on the Miller Number Custodian Staff (and all other groups) which is unacceptable.

Persons holding positions or authority from both that group and the Miller Number Custodian Staff may continue for as long as they fully perform their duties to the Miller Number Custodian (or his staff member) and the Diplomacy Variant Commission, without accepting any instruction, decision, or other interference from the "World Variant Association".

Diplomacy Variant Commission Proposition XII.1 - "Rights and Responsibilities"

As recognized in law and ethics, any individual or group, and their assignees and successors, enjoy rights with respect to their intellectual work, including games they may have designed.

While these rights extend to prohibiting the sale of trivial modifications, they do not extend to prohibiting the publication of such trivial modifications, nor to prohibiting the design and sale of similar games.

Recognizing that the holders of the copyright on Diplomacy have a right to be secure from the sale of variants which are trivial modifications of Diplomacy, the Diplomacy Variant Commission will, to the best of its ability, provide expert witnesses if the matter should ever come to court.

Variant Banks provide people with copies of otherwise unobtainable variants. It is therefore not in the general interest to restrict their operation, or prevent them from developing their archives.

Except for reduced rates to individuals and members of groups which subsidize them, and for variations in cost and postage, a Variant Bank is expected to sell equally, without any discrimination, anything it has for sale.

When a variant is available in an area from its designer (or his successors or assignees) Variant Banks ought not to sell it there; to assure that a Variant Bank will not compete with him, a designer should give some sort of direct or public notice.

I am pleased to announce the appointment of James Hymas as Associate MNC for Special Projects. He will (initially) be handling feedback & ratings, and as part of his job he is Executive Officer (and acting Chairman) of the DVC Committee on Recategorization of the Miller Numbers.

I am also pleased to announce the appointment of Richard Ware as Principal Associate & Vice Miller Number Custodian.

As Maiden has so far failed to assign Miller Numbers and forward them to the MNC, as he claims to recognize no MNC, and has announced plans to use an irregular and unwise system in assigning pretended "Miller" numbers, he has effectively suspended himself from the Miller Number Custodian Staff. Therefore I am accepting applications (including Maiden's) for the posts of Associate MNCs for Europe and for Orphans in Europe.

I have finally obtained a copy of Feron's Miller Time #2, courtesy of Walt Duchanan, but there were no MNs assigned in it that I hadn't already published. Would anyone with knowledge of MNs assigned in Europe since 1974DVgg and 1975ADgf please advise me of full details.

George Phillies, President of the American Wargaming Association, is setting up a numbering system for multi-player play-by-mail wargames not otherwise numbered. As it now stands, his numbers will appear in Lord of Hosts. George also publishes History of Wargaming (formerly Guide to Wargaming Periodical Literature) which includes an index of recent articles in wargaming.

Larry Dunning has established The Australian Variant Bank with a limited stock of current variants. It doesn't look likely to get WVB status as WVB is against setting up a third branch.

Given the current situation in the hobby, the DVC Awards Panel has closed, without prejudice, all categories without award; the Variant Awards process will begin all over again next year. Persons wishing to serve on the Awards Panel, or on DVC for the 1977-78 2-year term, should apply to the Secretary, Ray Heuer, giving full details; elections for both will take place in December. Subscriptions to Phoenix, the Journal of the DVC, are also welcome.

Back issues of Lord of Hosts through 5&6 are available at 20¢/number plus postage. From #7 on, it is 25¢/number plus postage.

SF EXPO '76 was to take place Oct 22-25 at the Playboy Club, Great Gorge NJ. Full refunds were available if claimed before Sep 17, payable around Nov 1.

NY MWGA MetroCon has been postponed indefinitely as arrangements for the location have again fallen through, for the fourth or fifth time.

I have received no information about MIT-SGS' WinterCon V, but Michigan's WinterCon V will take place Dec 3-5 at Oakland University. Cost is $4 for 3 days. Lodging is available at $6/person/night (double occupancy) if registered for by Nov 25. Info: Bill Somers, 1654 Chandler, Lincoln Park MI 48146; Lodging: Dennis Daughtette, 22608 West Rd #204, Woodhaven MI 48183; Dealer Info: Roman Ulman, 4505 Garvin, Detroit MI 48212.

A while back I noted the opposition of IDA as it then stood to variants. Now those who indignantly insisted that I was wrong have abandoned IDA for a new group ("IDA-NA") which promises to be even more hostile to variants, just when IDA was coming around to a settlement with variants.

I recently stumbled onto a meeting of the ad hoc DVC Tribunal on the MNC. After waiting outside the door for a few hours, I was finally let in to answer charges that had been made against me; the report is available from the Secretary, Ray Heuer. Apparently I am guilty of assigning a MN to 1975Rgr which is being played (wierd!), but not of assigning a MN to 1975BEgx as there had been deliberate deception of the MNC there, and not guilty of abusing my position in my actions re Walter Luc Haas. The Tribunal found no cause for me to be removed from office on the charges so far presented to it.

Please advise me of any corrections you know of. I am not particularly confident of the accuracy of most listings included, and (with a handful of exceptions) I intend to start from scratch with the next listing. As may be noticed, some listings are incomplete, simply because the information about cost, variants open, and even zine name could not be determined!

The VARIODDMOD Rating System by John Leeder (runestone #118 & #131) 4
 (Note: John is lessening his obligations in the hobby, and has put both ODDMOD and VARIODDMOD up for bids. I expect he has no objections to my reprinting this fine effort - he probably was too busy to answer my requests for reprint permission - nor to my omitting parts that were superceded in the second article or other editing. I wish more people would do as much as John has done.)

This system simply applies the principles of ODDMOD to variant games. A person receives a basic adjustment of +50 for each player he defeats, and -50 for each player he loses to. These basic adjustments are corrected by a weighting dependent on the previous ratings of the two players. For example, a player who won a Youngstown Variant (10 players) would receive an adjustment of +450, weighted according to the players' initial ratings.

I have compiled these ratings using game completion statistics printed in THE CONNUBIAL CHILD MOLESTER, FAFHRD AND THE GRAY MOUSER, and LORD OF HOSTS.

Where game statistics were incomplete, I have referred to the zines in which the game was printed, or, when this was not possible, extrapolated or fudged. I have used all completed games regardless of questions of regularity.

When joint victories occurred (as in Atlantica) I have scored each player as though he had defeated all the others. When a player has departed from a game, and reappeared later playing a different position, I have scored him separately for each position (i.e. his rating after completion of the first position is taken as his initial rating in the second position.)

Based on game completions through LORD OF HOSTS #10. Only players with more than one completed position are listed. Figures are rounded to the nearest 10.

(Note: This was submitted to Lewis Pulsipher for his Diplomacy World Variant Design Contest, and was rejected. For that reason it may also be called the LEWIS PULSIPHER MEMORIAL REJECT to distinguish it from such variants as Peter Aronson's FLUID DIPLOMACY (I) which Pulsipher apparently liked. Some of the features in this variant relating to changing borders should appear in an economic variant with integral speculation that I am dreaming up.)

The standard rules of Diplomacy apply except as noted below.

1. Basic concept: Every space on the board at the beginning of the game may hold up to two units. If three units with equal supports were ordered into the same unoccupied space, all three would fail.
2. Joint occupation: If two units of the same power occupy a space, or if two fleets occupy a body of water, they each occupy the entire space. A single attack is not sufficient to cut an order of one unit in a space supporting the other; a single attack is not sufficient to cut the support order of a unit for another unit to join it. One of two units in a space may be ordered to absorb a single attack, allowing the other to support unbroken by that attack.
3. Half-spaces: Upon occupation of a land province by units of two different powers, the GM will proclaim an internal boundary based on (1st) the direction(s) of attack (a unit moving into an occupied province receives less than if it entered an unoccupied province simultaneously with an enemy unit), (2nd) of any supports without intervening opposing support between them and the moving/holding unit, (3rd) of the type of units involved (fleets extend further along coastlines than armies, armies extend further inland than fleets), (4th) the topological distances, and (5th) the "real" distances; each half-space may hold only one unit (the normal rules of Diplomacy apply to half-spaces).
Two adjacent half-spaces owned or occupied by at most one power may be ordered merged into a single province by that power; the order fails if more than one valid merge order for the same half-space occurs. The order of adjudications is moves, mergers, retreats, splits, moves, mergers, retreats, splits, adjustments for supply.
4. If a province with supply value is divided into half-spaces, each is valued with $\frac{1}{2}$ the supply value provided both include parts of original supply centers; while supply value can be merged it cannot be moved, hence no province will ever exceed supply value of 1 center.
Any province/half-space containing part of a home supply center of a power may be used as a home supply center by that power for builds: supply willing, 2 units may be built in an owned unoccupied province containing part of one's home center(s), and 1 unit in an owned singly occupied province or unoccupied half-space containing part of one's home center(s).
5. Coastal crawl, changing of the guard, &c.: Two fleets of different powers may not occupy the same coast. Units of different powers attacking each other across land boundaries with equal strength do not exchange places, the same as in Diplomacy; units of different powers attacking each other across the same coast with equal strength do not exchange places, the same as in Diplomacy; units of the same power may move across each other so as to exchange places (changing of the guard) if both spaces are full spaces (that is either full provinces or bodies of water); units of different powers may exchange spaces if both spaces are full spaces and one has a double coast and the occupied coasts before and after the moves are not the same (coastal crawl); fleets of different powers may move across each other between bodies of water.

NEW VARIANTS - Editorial Commentary

Geo-Shift (Lewis Pulsipher due to Peter Aronson, "Verhandeln" #10). Since I cannot find an excuse to avoid reviewing this turkey, I have to say what I think about it. This is yet another of the random map change variants, and we don't need another one. Every winter there is a 1/3 chance that a space changes from land to water or water to land, unless it changed the previous year; units caught on the wrong space are eliminated; fleets may never move on land, though both fleets and armies may support action they are adjacent to whether land or water; centers may be captured spring or fall; units may be built in any owned center - fleets in water, armies on land; it is not stated whether convoys are abolished; if a unit holds in a space adjacent to both water and land without being attacked or giving support two consecutive move turns it becomes amphibious and may move on both land and water; standard Pulsipher victory condition - with 28 centers you must have 16 units on board; centers are assigned initially either by preference list and a random method - no player may be assigned centers within 2 spaces of each other. There are some nice details to keep track of - if anyone gets stuck with supply center 6, and starts a unit there, it cannot turn amphibious because it is adjacent to no land space - I hope there are still convoy rules if only to allow the army off the island. Then there is a slight question - what does mean to have a supply center in water and to build a fleet there?

Balkan Wars-R (David Schwartz with help from Al Nofi, Asmodeus! #4). This version is playable. Still, Serbia is still land-locked (perhaps no problem) and there are two 4-points (not including the Corinth Canal which is one effectively). There are 5 players with 3 centers each, 2 minor centers on land, and 1 island center; victory condition is $\frac{1}{2}$ of that - 9 centers. Fleet transit through the Sea of Marmara is by permission of the power controlling the entrances.

WEST EMNET: The White Hand of Isengard declares unto the Lord of Mordor, and other lesser inhabitants of this Age, that the Field of Celebrant, Wold, East Emnet, Eastfold, and Anfalas shall be the Easternmost end of the Greater Rohan Co-Prosperity Sphere. Under the guidance of Saruman, liberated peoples in this area shall proclaim a Golden Age after years under the oppressive yolk of Mar-Gret the Maggott. Withdraw ye, Gondorian mist, or suffer the fate of Old Rohan. -Saruman of the White Hand

KARLMARXRHON: Since the dawn of life, the peoples of the south and north have been cruelly oppressed and trodden into the mud by overlords no better than they; since the First Age, the peoples of the west have lain prostrate under the heel of the aristocracy.

Except in isolated ares, imperialism and squalor has been the rule rather than the exception. Gondor prates of destiny, freedom and the rights of the Steward; but the vast majority of Gondor, freedman and serf alike, have few rights under the law, many obligations, and must pay onerous taxes. They must serve in the army; they must maintain the roads; they must contribute one tenth of their wealth to their feudal overlord; they do not own the land they work, but exist on the sufferance of their overlord; they may not move from the land under penalty of law; they may not hope for more exalted station, lest they be considered presumptuous and killed; they are considered as less under the law than are their feudal overlords; they may be killed with impunity; they must labor from dawn to dusk to earn a marginal living.

This is not freedom; this is slavery.

Peasants of the south unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains! Arise against your oppressors; strike a blow for the freedom of the plebate and proletariat. Arise, and within 24 hours we will aid you.

Even now, as the Council of Magic and the Imperialists of Gondor quake in their shoes, the ever-victorious Orcish Liberation Army, in cooperation with the People's Free Army of Harad-Rhon march ever onward, defeating all who lie in their path. As they march inward against the failing defenses of Gondor and the inhuman creatures of the north, rejoicing and revolt arises wherever the oppressive weight of the imperialist armies is removed. We have the support of the people; and an army without the support of the people is like a fish out of water.

Freedom loving peoples, wherever you may be, unite with Chairman Sauron in his beneficent task of freeing the world from the evil, imperialist oppressors of Gondor and the Dunedain! We must strive with all our might! We have nothing to
